Hepatitis Rate Declines; 4 New Cases Reported

Four additional cases of hepatitis were reported to the County Health office during the seven days period between Jan. 22 and Jan. 29. As of Tuesday, 56 hepatitis patients are currently under treatment in Appomattox County.

Although the rate of new cases of infectious hepatitis being reported has declined, Dr. Francis J. Clements, health director, said that "there are undoubtedly more cases than are being seen by doctors."

And "sick people need the doctor," he emphasized. "Doctors are on the lookout for liver damage. They need to see each sick person to give individual treatment and attention."

He cited on Tuesday one instance of a woman who said, "My boy has a stomach ache." "Therefore," Dr. Clements said, "the lady thought that because it was mild, neither she nor the boy would spread it."

"This is not true," he said. "Infectious hepatitis, although it may be mild for one person is still infectious hepatitis. Spreading the virus may cause serious infection for someone else."

The previous record for infectious hepatitis cases in the county for one year was 46 in 1954.

Deadline Today For Tree Contest

Entries to the new Forestry Club contest were still coming in on Tuesday, County Agent Jim Smith reported. Today, Thursday, is the deadline for tree growers to file an application to the contest which runs from now until September, 1963.

Prizes await the best foresters in each of five classes for adults and junior entrants.

See Agent Smith, county forestry agents, or pulpwood and lumber dealers for entry blanks.

Jr. Club Speaker One Of 2,600 In Exchange Program

From 50 to 2,600 and 9 to 1,500. That's how the foreign student exchange movement has grown in the past 16 years. So stated Mrs. Raymond Williamson, of Lynchburg, who introduced Robin Kirk, New Zealand exchange student to more than 35 Jr. Woman's Club members and their guests, the Appomattox Woman's Club, on Tuesday night.

The American Field Service, through a local chapter in Lynchburg, provides funds and a home for a student coming here from another country.

American students studying abroad under the auspices of the American Field Service have increased from 9 in 1950 to 1,500 this year. Students coming to the U. S. now number 2,600 as compared to a total of 50 in 1947.

Mrs. Williams on described the foreign exchange program as one of the "most remarkable educational ventures ever launched."

Save Some Pancakes For Me!

Dark - Fired Tobacco Sales To End Feb. 7

Tobacco sales were just about as expected last week, with volume light, prices trending downward, and quality just about unchanged.

Old Belt tobacco men set the closing date for regular sales for Thursday, Feb. 7. This gives one more week of tobacco sales left, plus a day so be announced for clean-up sales. This will make the sale season run about a week longer than it did last year.

At Farmville

At Farmville's three warehouses, 401,004 pounds of dark and sun-cured leaf were sold last week. Dark-fired sales totaled 364,296 pounds, selling for $130,053.73, which is an average of $35.70. Sun-cured sales were 36,758 pounds for $10,539.68, averaging $28.67. This was a better volume and more money than during the same week last season.

However, the season total as at the other two Old Belt centers, is behind last year's total. The season total in Farmville stands at 3,329,388 pounds of dark leaf, which has been sold for $1,285,141.72. Sun-cured leaf sales total 200,366 pounds for $61,429.93.

Old Belt Totals

Throughout the Old Belt, sales dwindled to 997,102 gross pounds on the dark-fired market during last week. Season sales now stand at 8,667,420 pounds, averaging $39.35 per hundredweight. Comparable sales at this point last week were 9,168,878 pounds averaging $39.20.

Deliveries to the "pool" were estimated at 85 per cent last week. For the season, growers have turned over nearly 11 per cent of the sales to the Associations, under the government support program.

Composition of the offerings last week showed only slight differences compared with the previous week. Bulk of the sales consisted of fair and good quality heavy leaf, low and fair grades of both thin leaf and lugs, and nondescript.

Approximately one-half of the heavy leaf grades were of $1 per hundred pounds in averages from the previous week. Nondescript decreased 50 cents a hundred for the most part. On the other hand, thin leaf and lugs held at previous levels.

Tobacco in unsafe order continued to be sold in an unusually large percentage. The cold and near zero weather, continues to plague the farmers as they try to prepare their tobacco for the sales. Unless there is a definite improvement in the weather, tobacco in "unsafe order" will continue to be seen in abundance.

Some of the top sales last week are as follows: Milbert Elder and Leonard Daniel, 982 lbs. $31 to $96, averaging $61.94; J. E. Patterson, 798 lbs., $34 to $69, averaging $45.92; Walter Carwile, Jr., 42 lbs., $87 to $88 averaging $51.22; Gordon, Harvey, 694 lbs., $40 to $63, averaging $49.44; H. C. Salmon and R. W. Tuck, 1,592 lbs., $35 to $55, averaging $47.65; "Wiggles" Brothers, 1,008 lbs., $ averaging $46.66; J. C. Stevant, 1,896 lbs., $34 to 56, averaging $47.88.

Also, B. L. Seay, Buckingham, 1,662 lbs., for $667.40, from $29 to $57; D. Berry and Scott, Farmville, 1,388 lbs., for $564.22, $31 to $55; W. H. Showalter, Pamplin, 972 lbs., for $370.06, $26 to $57; and H. E. Carwile, Pamplin, 696 lbs., for $320.80, $37 to $58.

Good Lawns Cost Money; Effort, Smith Tells Club

More than 40 Garden Club members, husbands, and other guests heard the latest on the care and control of good lawns Monday night following a covered dish dinner at the Appomattox Elementary School.

"Lawns cost money," County Agent Jim Smith said," and the good care you give your lawn may even mean more work. A good turf needs to be cut regularly and cut thoroughly."

He cautioned the members to cut grass about 2 inches high. "Cutting too close invites growth of crab grass," he said.

Smith mentioned that his office will run soil tests free for interested persons. He stated that a mixture of Merion and Kentucky bluegrass (in recommended proportions) usually produces a good lawn in this area.

Red Cross Seeks Aid For Fire Victims

The Appomattox County Red Cross Chapter is making an appeal for donations to the family of Gertrude Davis, colored, of Route 1, Appomattox.

Takes Teamwork To Fight Fires

Firemen of Appomattox and Pamplin worked together to put John Goin extinguish a fire at his farm last month. Credit for both fire companies for saving his home which stands only a few feet from the fire area pictured. A corn crib, a storage house, frame farrowing house, and 22 young pigs plus two sows were burned in the fire. The one little pig which escaped is still thriving. Goin reports. Next to Goin in the picture is Carol Wooldridge. Bill Woody, Ned Hancock and Pete Doss of the Appomattox Company plus Hank Shelton and Charles Baldwin, of Pamplin. Carl Walker is a farmer, who lives nearby.

Fire!

A fire early Tuesday morning completely destroyed an Evergreen home, an automobile, and all the household possessions of a colored family living there, except a trunk, according to a report made later in the day by the J. K. Hamiltons, of Evergreen.

Appomattox firemen were alerted shortly after midnight that "a house was completely gone and that everything else was burning around the house," in Evergreen.

Firemen rushed to Evergreen in sub - freezing temperatures, but were unable to locate the person who turned in the alarm or to locate any evidence of a fire. The Davis home is about six miles from the underpass at Evergreen going toward the Charlotte County line.

Other fires reported within the past seven days include small grass fires and one car on fire. All of these were quickly extinguished with relatively small losses to those concerned.

TV Special

New Directories Will Be Issued Friday, Phone Company Announces

W. S. Gills, vice president of the Appomattox Telephone Company, announced Monday that new telephone directories are due here tomorrow, to be distributed as rapidly as possible, after February 1st.

"There may possibly be a delay of a few days," Gills said, "but the directory publishers intend to have the books here by Friday."

Reason for a possible last minute hold - up is an effort to make the directory as accurate as possible, as to include every change, he added.

Rapid Growth Noted

The first directory issued by the company in 1950 was eight pages "thick". Four of these were listings. 1962's 43 page edition (15 of listings; 28 of classified numbers) will be replaced by an even larger one, according to Gills. 1,899 subscribers as of Jan 1st, are "quite a contrast", Gills pointed out, to the 197 hand cranked, magneto type telephone sets in use in 1949. All of those hand cranked sets were eagerly sought after by antique collectors, Gill recalled.

Pamplin-Appomattox Combined

Acting upon customers' requests, the company has combined Pamplin and Appomattox numbers in the same alphabetical listing, as contrasted with separate sections in the 1962 book. Subscribers will still dial 352 plus the correct digits for Pamplin prefix of 248 plus the correct dial numbers.

Four to 493

Instead of three or four pay stations in Pamplin as of 1949, when the present owners purchased the company, 493 home and business sets are now in use, Gills said.

"We are never able to catch up with orders," said Gills, speaking of both Pamplin and Appomattox requests for more service. "We are still putting phones in areas that haven't had them before. And we hope to catch up in the next 12 months.

$100,000 Replaces "Number Please"

About half of the local telephone building is devoted to the complex "dial" equipment, valued by the company at $100,000. All this replaced, locally, the operator, one of three, who worked an eight hour shift at the switchboard to connect parties back in the 40's.

$700,000 Corporation

K. E. Schuler, Farmville, is president and general manager of the local telephone company. Among many other duties, Gills, as plant manager, has done much of the planning for the dial system.

Other company personnel include Mrs. Schuler and Mrs. H. W. (Billy) Conner, who take care of billing and bookkeeping, and three "outside" men, E. T. Layne, Jr., Ted Layne, and Samuel Bryant.

The company listed assets over the $700,000 mark in their yearly report to the State Corporation Commission.

Oakville Teacher Given P-TA Award

Mrs. Bessie O'Brien, first grade teacher of Oakville, is seen above with her class, plus the Oakville P-TA president, the Rev. S. B. Whitehead, and J. J. Clements, principal. Mrs. O'Brien holds a lifetime membership certificate to the P-TA plus a gold and blue pin presented to her at the January meeting. She is the first person in Oakville P-TA history to receive this honor for "outstanding service to children and youth." A contribution made by the P-TA will help provide scholarships for future teachers through the state P-TA Scholarship Loan Fund. First graders, above, are l. to r: Curtis Robertson, Vickie Bryant, Pat Whitehead, Penny Martin, Sharon Ranson, and Beverly Moore. Second row: Kirk Harris, Terry Bayes, Robie Smith, Berkley Garrett, Billy Ayres, Richard Page, and Wayne Gunter, Third row: Walker Gunter, Calvin Honaker, Ricky Lewis, Vic Banton, and Stanley Gunter. Eddie Stratton and Paul Cyrus, who were absent, complete the class of 29.
